

ATL Hotels

~~ATL Hotels prefers to serve customers with reservations only.~~

In ATL Hotels we prefer to have our customers make reservations to our facility prior to their stay.

No walk-ins are accepted. This helps in facility management, floor services, and of course financial planning.

Customers with reservations check-in through the front desk. Rooms are determined during checkin.

Room rates vary by room types. Stays have pre-determined duration based on reservation, but can be extended upon request and room-availability. Customers may have to switch rooms if they want to extend their stay.

What we come up with (needs validation): Stays are managed through room assignments which show which room is assigned to which stay, along with start and finish days. A stay may have more than one assignments and obviously over time a room can be in multiple room assignments.

NEW BORN CHILD

In ATL Hospital, the new born child clinic is a very active one.

Newborns are a special type of baby. They will always be isolated from adults, including their mother for an initial period in order to protect them from various germs. They stay in a general care clinic with many other babies.

They may also have conditions which require special care. These conditions are tracked until they can be released into general care. (assumption needs validation: conditions are temporary, they end)

Newborns do not have their first name recorded at birth. They are named as “baby surname” where the surname is their family surname. In case of single mothers the mother’s surname (ie. Maiden name) is used. Giving the baby a first name can be delayed.

Newborn babies’ diet is strictly mother’s milk. They are not even allowed to drink water. However not all mothers can produce milk so replacements can be used. Sick babies with special conditions may also have additional dietary requirements.
